

"I would still be a long lost drifter... no money, no direction, no body of work...if it wasn't for Mr Fate."

American, Sketch Holiday, has been travelling in Australia since he was 21. Focusing on surfing art, his style is uniquely recognised wherever you see it. The following sketch holiday images are from a series of 11 works that have come from being deeply involved in the surfing subculture of the rainbow region (northern NSW) and spending time surfing with guys who display a style that stimulates this artistic flair. Sketch Holiday immersed himself in this subculture and he really helped to progress this movement in the artistic side of surfing.
